

MR ISAAC

music teacher

the academy of performing arts

Why Mr Isaac Loves Teaching:

“I love to teach music because nothing makes me happier than spreading the joy of music and being part of someone's journey discovering it.”

Mr. Isaac teaches acoustic and electric guitar to students of all ages and playing levels.

Mr. Isaac began piano lessons at three years old and guitar lessons at twelve years old. He studied at Wondersound Music, UW-Milwaukee, composition, and guitar at MATC, and privately with professors/guitarists at the conservatory. Along with music education, Mr. Isaac also holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Biomedical Engineering from UW-Milwaukee.

Mr. Isaac has an extensive performance background playing in and leading groups in a variety of genres. He founded Dog Bad, an indie surf-rock band, which he has recorded with and performed live on 88. Nine Radio Milwaukee. He has also played guitar for the following acts: Joe Jordan (R&B singer), Stone Jam Band (R&B/rock cover band), Fellow Kinsman (indie), and MOONGLOW (pop/funk).

Mr. Isaac has a unique detail-oriented approach to achieving students' musical goals while having fun. Aside from teaching private guitar, Mr. Isaac also plays ukulele, drums, piano, and bass guitar. Well versed in a variety of genres from pop, jazz, blues, and finger-style, Mr. Isaac will guide students through the theory and technique used in their favorite music.
